matai

A forgotten timber recovered...

The Matai Bay Collection from Sorenmobler uses unique native Matai timber reclaimed from the high, arid North Island plateau. These logs have lain untouched under the canopy of plantation grown Douglas Fir for more than 50 years. Discarded as worthless once the native forest had been milled for its Rimu, they were pushed aside to allow the planting of Douglas Fir. The dry, cold climate didn't favour the growth of these trees and they have long since been harvested. Vast tracts of this country are now undergoing the transformation into Dairy pasture and the Matai logs are being discovered, recovered, milled and transformed into the stunning Matai Bay Collection. A truly remarkable timber preserved in a most remarkable manner.
